

At Landal, we are aware that our actions impact both people and the planet. We believe in continuous improvement and work together to help everyone find their happy place, while taking good care of nature and society. To ensure our holidays are fun and responsible, we follow six sustainable programs:

Carbon Countdown

We try to generate as much of our own energy as possible, using solar panels on our buildings. For all the extra energy we need, we use clean wind energy from Europe. We also have electric vehicles and charging stations at our locations. Furthermore, we try to use less water, gas and electricity in general.

Work Wellness

We focus on the well-being and health of our employees by providing a safe, healthy and inclusive workplace. We have a supportive company culture and support personal development of all our employees.

Waste Warrior

We work hard to recycle things like paper, glass and plastics in our buildings and holiday homes. In our restaurants and shops we focus on reducing food waste. We help our guests understand how they can make their holiday greener. Moreover, we share tips on how to produce less waste while enjoying their stay.

Destination Care

Together with our guests, employees and partners, we take care of the environment surrounding our parks. We support charities and partnerships with organisations that help protect nature, improve sustainability and support people in need. We aim to create additional value for nature and society around our parks

Nature Nurture

Our holiday parks are located in the middle of beautiful nature reserves. We teach our guests about the plants and animals there, and make sure we don't disturb them. We avoid the use of harmful chemicals in our green maintenance. We tell all our guests, employees and partners how we take care of the environment. We also have special activities to teach children to be good to nature.

Concious Business

We work with partners that offer responsible products and services. In addition, we make sure our partners are transparent on how we can be more sustainable together.
